

Content of Exportaid LEVELTWO Country Reports

Our LEVELTWO Reports are more detailed versions of our free PREVIEW Country Reports, and take longer for us to compile, so we charge a fee for them. Their contents are briefly explained below:

Enhanced Country Statistics

Enhanced Travel Guidance, including public transport links, distances between main cities and approximate road travel times, details of road signs, rules of the road, toll roads and more.

Local Information to include medical and emergency services, drinking water quality, banking and working hours.

A country map followed by a breakdown of the country by region, with the population of the main cities.

An description of each of the administrative regions of the country and links to regional websites, national political party links and an up to date country risk rating.

A Commerce section giving the country's main industrial and agricultural activities and their locations, plus links to assist in checking company status.

Website Connections will take you to a whole range of useful websites, from government sources to trade associations...

...with useful contacts to each of the key players in each of the main industrial and agricultural activities, academic and environmental links, and links for both overseas Embassies and Consulates within the Country, and their own Embassies and Consulates overseas.

What is the Deal?
